Meet your trainers

Ir. Glenn Weisz Jr.

Glenn Weisz Jr. has obtained his Master degree in Civil Engineering at the TU Delft in the Netherlands. He is the founder and owner of Canitiem BV in the Netherlands, a company that focuses on leadership development in the branches of healthcare, engineering and Academical education.

Glenn has developed, implemented and supervised multiple comprehensive leadership development programs, training senior managers with the objective investing in their personal leadership growth to enhance their adaptability for changing market requirements. Managers that partook in the respective programs didn't only activate more ownership and leadership amongst their co-workers, they received powerful tools to become more effective in their interpersonal communication -benefiting the company as a whole.

Apart from being active in corporate live, Glenn is a devoted guest-lecturer Leadership Development at both the Delft University of Technology (TU Delft) and the Erasmus University Rotterdam, both institutes ranking in the top 5 of Higher Education the Netherlands. For 5 consecutive years Glenn has been working with the Honours Students of both universities, increasing their self-awareness and preparing them for their future ahead. One of the groups that attended his course won a prestigious award for their developed concept supervised by Glenn.

Recently, his debut book "Studenten hebben dorst" has been published in partnership with University Foundation of TU Delft, in which he fulfills his mission to make personal leadership more accessible to students. By doing so, he simultaneously prepares corporate life how to position themselves to attract the future talents of Generation Z.

Besides above mentioned programs Glenn is a certified MBTI™ Master, NLP Master and IPMA D certified project management professional. He is regularly invited to provide lectures on the topics of War on Talent and social entrepreneurship.

Raquel Weisz MSc

Raquel Weisz has obtained her Master degree in Economics at the Erasmus University Rotterdam. She is the founder and owner of Creating Milestones, a company that increases the future-readiness of Caribbean corporations through strategic advise and tailor-made communication programs to enhance costumer services and ambassadorship of clientele.

Raquel has gained over a decade of strategic working experience at an executive level in highly complex, politically sensitive organizations in both the corporate world, as well as in the Government and the non-profit sector. During those years she advised Management Boards, Supervisory Boards, Secretaries and Ministers in both Curacao and the Netherlands, functioning as a key player to align stakeholders in culturally divers environments.

Previously working as a risk manager, Raquels' analyses functioned as indispensable input for critical corporate decisions to anticipate on complex future trends. With her no-nonsense communication style, she was able to design and implement corporate policy that always focused on balancing carefully between the needs of professionals with the overall corporate mission.

The accumulation of the above-mentioned experiences in different branches of work, has lead to Raquel becoming a seasoned organizational specialist, adding value through training, coaching and interim management. As an expert in effective interpersonal communication, she works with senior managers and executives how to exert leadership through values and principles, making them aware of their communication styles and providing them powerful Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP) tools how to positively influence their co-workers.

NLP is used to improve interpersonal communication by almost all prominent corporations in the USA, as specialists are hired to transition organizations from within and empower their employees. In Curacao there are less than three certified and licensed NLP-Masters at the Society of NLP™ in the USA, Raquel and her extensive corporate experience being one of them. Additionally, Raquel is a certified MBTI™ Master, a certified Business Coach and a certified Business Advisor for the Hospitality Assured Program.

Information on MBTI™

Myers-Briggs Type Indicator™

The Myers-Briggs Type Indicator™ (MBTI™) assessment is the best-known and most trusted personality assessment tool available today. As many as 1.5 million assessments are administered annually to individuals, including to employees of most Fortune 500 companies.

The Myers-Briggs™ assessment has its roots in Carl Jung's theory of psychological type. Katharine Briggs and her daughter, Isabel Briggs Myers, developed Jung's theory and the first forms of the instrument, sharing a vision "to enable individuals to grow through an understanding and appreciation of individual differences in healthy personality and to enhance harmony and productivity among diverse groups."

Team members who seek to understand one another will likely improve their overall team effectiveness because their communication is better. And one tool that can help teams understand their members is the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator. The MBTI helps teams because it helps individuals see the differences in their innate personalities: how they perceive the world and how they prefer to act. And when used with teams, it helps team members to understand each other better.

It also helps leaders and (senior) managers:

- Identifying strengths, resources and potential weaknesses within a team.
- Improving communication throughout the team.
- To identify an action plan to improve team effectiveness.
- Helps align teams and reduce background noise.
- Resolving, preventing and managing conflict and stressors because of greater understanding and awareness of other people's preferences.

It can be frustrating trying to understand the other people you work with, but knowing the MBTI results of yourself and others around you can make it clearer to everyone how people have different ways of approaching the world. Most business people take the assessment about five times during their careers, so many of your employees have already taken it, or they will at least have heard of it. Also, 89 of the Fortune 100 companies and 80 percent of the Fortune 500 companies use personality tests based on the MBTI and its spinoffs.
